

How would you react to an attacker? Would you know what to do? How would you protect yourself?

In a world where physical violence can happen at any time, without warning, professional defensive training is the only real answer. It's training that allows you to identify your options in dangerous situations. That prepares you for actions that will ensure your safety with a minimum of risk. That supplies you with the confidence and poise which can actually prevent threats and attacks in the first place.

And now that kind of professional training is available to you – regardless of age, gender physical ability or experience.

Street Smartz

A Complete Short Course in Professional Defensive Training

Street Smartz™ is a 90-minute introduction to the high-level training used by top corporate security and executive protection personnel. All by itself, it will supply you with a spectrum of new skills and techniques for dealing with the threat of physical harm. You will experience highly accurate examples of threatening situations. You will be trained in effective, low-risk measures to avoid or neutralize aggressive behavior instantly. And you will find a sense of confidence about your personal safety that you simply hadn't known before.

Street Smartz includes training in:

- Avoidance and exposure management
- Instant strategic planning and positioning
- Verbal and non-verbal control tactics
